The CS 189/289A Honor Code.

I promise that

- all my exam work will be done entirely by myself, with no help from others;
- I will not communicate with anybody except the proctors during the exam;
- I will not consult any people, sources, or writings other than my self-made cheat sheets and the exam itself;
- I will not provide any information about the exam's contents to other people until the exam is over; and
- if I take an online exam, I will follow the additional rules specified in the document above.

Write the following statement by hand and sign below it.

"I pledge my honor that I will not violate this Honor Code during this examination. I certify that all solutions will be entirely my own, that I will not consult people or sources other than the cheat sheets, and that I will not share information with others during the exam."
